

RISK DISCLOSURE

Climax Prime offers various financial products, but trading options, especially CFDs with leverage, carries high risk. Potential gains and losses may not suit all investors, urging caution. Never invest more than you can afford to lose or trade with borrowed funds. Prioritize understanding risks and adopt secure and responsible trading. Leverage fluctuations can lead to significant gains or losses.

1. Capital Movements:

1.1. Utilizing leverage carries the potential for significant profits or losses due to slight fluctuations in rates. The client acknowledges the risk of losing some or all their invested funds in the event of unfavorable changes in FOREX rates or other instruments in use.

1.2. Climax Prime cannot be held responsible for any losses suffered by the client due to the implementation of an inaccurate trading strategy or the neglect of capital management guidelines.

2. Technological Quandaries:

2.1. Clients assume the risk arising from software, telecommunication failures, and other technical issues.

2.2. Climax Prime bears no responsibility for client losses due to the client's failure to follow instructions outlined in the MetaTrader client terminal user guide.

2.3. Clients acknowledge the risk of unintended trading transactions when repeating an order before receiving the results of the last order processing.

2.4. Clients are responsible for securing their passwords to prevent unauthorized access to the trading system. Even if a third party utilizes the password, the client is still bound by the trading obligations assumed by both parties.

2.5. Clients acknowledge that information sent in plain text (such as through email or instant messaging services) is susceptible to unauthorized access.

3. Major Force:

3.1. Instances of force majeure, such as war, terrorist attacks, natural disasters, trading halts, currency interventions, governmental decisions, financial market instability with sharp drops in liquidity, and other significant changes in counterparty procedures, do not subject Climax Prime to liability for client losses.
